Founder of The Hub: urban ministries
& Consultant for Louisiana Baptist
Convention Compassion Ministries

Cassie Hammett is, first and foremost, a lover of Jesus. She is wife to Brent Hammett and mama to Liv, adopted from the DRC in Africa and Esther, adopted from South China.

Cassie Hammett founded The Hub: urban ministries 10 years ago. The Hub exists to serve the poor, chronically homeless and women and children who are trapped in the sex industry and victims of human trafficking. Cassie also has a huge heart to see the local church equipped to reach the least of these, to serve populations that are underserved in a way that is healthy, informed and holistic. She is an “expert” in her field and is ready to offer what she knows and what God has shown her to you!

The strategies of The Hub have radically changed the lives of the people they serve, from the inside out. They have seen change happen among populations that are rarely ever reached and have seen a shift in the culture of the local church and its relationship to the poor in Shreveport, LA.
