Challenges Aboard

Friends,

I don't need to tell you that the last several years have presented us with challenge after challenge. And while many of these challenges are national and even international in their scope, the local church has not been exempt.

Many of you are close to returning to normal in your worship attendance, but others are not. Sunday School and small groups are struggling to return to their pre-pandemic levels. Add to this the challenges relating to the rising costs of energy, food, insurance, and more. While there may be supply chain shortages, there are no shortages of challenges.

The good news is challenges can grow our prayer lives and stretch our faith as we pray for wisdom, strength, and trust God to lead us through them. The challenges we face have not changed our mission.

As you prayerfully coordinate your ministry plans for the coming year, expect challenges, and even plan for them. James reminds us that the testing of our faith (challenges, if you will) helps us become "mature and complete."

I am reminded of Joshua as he was preparing to lead Israel to finally enter the Promised Land. On behalf of Joshua, the officers go throughout the camp giving instructions including the distance they are to stay behind the ark of the covenant. They say, "Don't go near it, so that you can see the way to go, for you haven't traveled this way before." (Joshua 3:4)

Brothers and sisters, there's much about the times we are in that we could say, "We haven't traveled this way before." But just as God led Israel, He will lead us as we pray and plan to be the salt and light that He's left us here to be.

Keep looking up,

Steve Horn
Executive Director

Looking to help others discover the joy of generosity?

This 21-day devotional blends practical action with personal theology and leads the reader to ask if there is more that God wants him or her to do regarding generosity.

It encourages the reader to evaluate his/her own generosity in various areas such as time, serving others, and finances.

Having our hearts filled with gratitude allows us to joyfully give back to God.

People are responding to your efforts to share God's truth through Here for You.

“ How can I be saved and ... throw away all the bad and hurt I did towards loved ones?

“ I feel I am under spiritual attack

“ I need prayers. My family is falling apart.

“ I have tried to stop doing my sins and it's just not working I need Jesus to help me ...

“ I just pray I can be forgiven and ... move on from this depression and grief I'm going through.
